Install Python

Python is the software that runs this app. If you already have it, skip to step 2.

1. Open your browser and go to: python.org/downloads
2. Click the Download Python button and run the installer.
3. Windows: tick the box that says Add Python to PATH before clicking Install.
4. Mac: the installer walks you through everything automatically.

Start the app

Windows: double-click run.bat in the folder.

Mac / Linux: right-click run.sh, click Open, then click Open again if a warning appears.

The first time you run it, the app downloads its components automatically.

2. Sign in with any Google or Gmail account.
3. Click Create API Key.

5. Paste it into the box in the app and click Save and Start.

i Your key is saved only on your computer. It is never shared or uploaded anywhere.

Start creating

After saving your key, the main app opens automatically.

From this point on, just double-click run.bat (Windows) or run.sh (Mac) each time you want to use it.

No repeating the setup.

Tips for Best Results

- Be specific when describing your niche and audience. Vague inputs produce generic ideas.
- For short-form platforms (Shorts, Reels, TikTok), keep the niche very focused.
- If you do not like an idea, click Start Over and run the planner again with a slightly different audience description.
- The 'Add Your Own Voice' checklist at the end of each script is important. Use it. Scripts work best when they sound like you.
- For YouTube long-form, the 10-minute or 20-minute script options include enough structure for a full tutorial.

Google Gemini Free Tier Limits

The free API tier allows around 15 requests per minute and 1,500 requests per day. For a single creator this is more than enough for daily use. If you hit the limit, the app tells you and shows a countdown timer.
